TSB-318

Organic Racing Clutch

This twin plate organic clutch is designed for limited use street vehicles. This particular kit is based on a motorsport specific clutch design but has been fitted with organic friction discs for reduced inertia on synchro's. Please note that the design does not yield a long service life when used in a daily driven street vehicle. This clutch will have intermediate rattle and will have increased harmonics from being a racing design.

If you have any questions regarding suitability for this kit for your application, please contact the Australian Clutch Services sales team on +61 8 8300 5000 or email sales@australianclutch.com.au
